TO: Federal Communications Commission (FCC)

FROM: Muscogee (Creek) Nation Communications Department

SUBJECT: waiver of closed captioning for television program 'Native News Today'

Concerning the television program 'Native News Today', we are asking the FCC to waive the closed captioning requirements.

Native News Today is aired 52 times a year and the yearly budget is not created to provide costs for closed captioning.

Local quotes in the Tulsa, Oklahoma area in which the program is produced averages 250 dollars per program.

Our budget does not cover these costs nor can.

Financial sponsorship of the program depends on advertising and advertising costs that have already been committed toward the production of the program have already been secured.

The 'Native News Today' program consists of a producer, cameraman and 2 on-air talents. Our crew is able to produce a weekly program along with other departmental commitments.

Therefore we ask the FCC to waive the costs of the closed captioning services for the program 'Native News Today' on the CW 12 station in Oklahoma.

If you have any questions, please call me at # (918) 732-7635, thank you.

Sincerely,

Gerald Wofford,

Muscogee (Creek) Nation Communications Department
